Not every garden requires antiques to make it shine. For lovers of contemporary design we have an array of offerings in planters that make them perfect vessels for plants and flowers without all the embellishment. Case in point is the Harvest Large Dark Gray Planter with its clean lines and clever indented dentil pattern on the implied base. It's made of composite so it's easier to move around than terracotta planters. We went the extra mile style-wise with this design, as we rolled the lip of the planter inward to pare down the shape. We also offer the dark gray Harvest in small and medium sizes, and a lighter gray in all three sizes is available. Each of these reflects the ethos that Phillips Collection personifies: modern organic.
